The International Semester of the School of Education of the Polytechnic University of Setúbal is designed for all (incoming) undergraduate students, within the framework of transnational mobility programs of higher education, who intend to study at the School of Education during the 2nd semester of the academic year.

WHAT IS IT?

- It is a set of Curricular Units (CU) taught in English by faculty members of the School of Education, providing a high-level learning opportunity for international students who are not proficient in Portuguese.
- It is complementary to the existing CU provision in the School of Education's diploma programs.
- This is in line with the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) and is an excellent opportunity to study in an EU country, especially in a city with a strong tourist, social and cultural tradition.

OUR MISSION

The main objective is to contribute to the development of broader perspectives of understanding and knowledge of other realities, the expansion of personal contacts and interpersonal relationship skills, and the appreciation of knowledge of other cultures and ways of being and doing.

It aims to promote meaningful learning-through methodologies and teaching strategies, student-centered techniques, building contextualized projects involving coordination/integration of knowledge and skills, and in the tutorial support provided by teachers.

OUR PRINCIPLES

FLEXIBILITY: Students can choose from a range of 10 CU of 5 ECTS each (50 ECTS in total), those that best suit their interests and motivations.
